SPECULATORS ALARMED. Over Interstate Commerce Commission Decisions-Fall in Prices.

New York, June 29—Speculative sen-timent took violent alarm today over the decisions announced by the inter-state commerce commission in a number of important rate cases affecting portions of the traffic of practically all portions of the trame of practically all the great transcontinental railroad lines. The terms in which the objec-tions to these rates had been contest-ed by the railroad officials themselves in the course of the hearings in Wash-ington, and the disastrous consequen-ces predicted by them in the event of the objections being sustained came the objections being sustained came back to confront them today while the prices of their company shares were crumbling in demoralization. the fall in prices proceeded with a rush.

The realization of the force of the news seemed to come but gradually, and the market was in a mood of comparative tranquility during the merning and for some time after the news agencies had circulated the bulietins of the interstate commerce commission decisions. The waiting period was affording opportunity to gauge the poor absorptive power of the market as well as for the growth of appreciation of the comprehensive scope of the decisions. The powerful bear party which has taken an ofganized form in the recent speculation gathered which has taken an organized form in the recent speculation gathered courage from the demonstration of the underlying weakness of the mar-ket and took every advantage of the situation. This demonstration came from the quick subsidence of demand for stocks when any striking tendency White, in case of accident to Rickard, will step into the ring and take charge of the contest.

The appointment of White followed quickly the receipt of a telegram by Flanagan Johnson's manager, which stated that Francis Nelson of Toronto, Canada, Flanagan's choice for second referee, could not serve. Nelson said other engagements prevented his attendance. Flanagan carried the message to Rickard and stated he would accept White, who was proposed by Hilarious a Good Herra. accept White, who was proposed by Sam Berger, Jeffries manager. "It is safe to say, I think, that Johnson will hit Jeffries more times than Jeffries hits him, but his blows will not have the same telling effect. I would not care to venture a definite opinion about the result of the fight, because I really know nothing of these contests. The only ring contest that I ever witnessed was the fight petween Joe Gams and Jimmie Britt, at Sam Francisco, three years ago." is the fastest runner that ever put on the gloves. He will lire out Jeff and then there will be nothing to it but one good Johnson wallop and Jack will be undisputed champion. Of course, Jack never fought such a man as he is going to face this time, and he may have to fight differently and lose, for if he tries to rush Jeffries it'll be a short fight and Jack will go down under the sledgehammer blows of the big Californian.

"I ought to know something about both men, for I taught Jeffries boxing for six months. This came about through my having a fight with him—17 rounds—for $500, at Los Angeles. I lost to Jeffries. That was his first fight, and I was an experienced fight—er then. After that I gave Jeffries boxing lessons till Corbett sent for him to go to Carson City to act as sparring partner, while he was getting ready for the world's championship fight with Fitzsimmons. After that fight Delaney grabbed Jeffries and took him east, and when he returned to the Pacific coast, three years later, he was champion of the world.

"I know Johnson, too, for I fought him three times. Once, in Oakland, Cale 15 rounds for a draw; once in the Reliance club in Los Angeles, 20 rounds for a draw; and once again for 20 rounds in Bakersville, Cal., where I won a decision over him.

time I managed to land on him in the seventeenth round, and knocked out two of his teeth. I thought then that he was a coward, for after I knocked his teeth out he showed signs of wanting to quit.

"I believe, with ther fighters, that Johnson has an awril punch, and that when he uses it, he hits hard, and yet he never comes out. We all used to think he was a coward, but clever, at that. Lots of men believe Jack has either a coward's heart or a weak spot and knows it. I don't think either is right. Of course, I don't know. I think that Jack in his cleverness has made up his mind that to keep out of his opponent's way is better tactics than to hit out his punch and take his medicine. He runs away because he than to hit out his punch and take his medicine. He runs away because he thinks it better than slugging right through, that's what I believe.

"Will it be a square fight or a frame up? That's something I'm afraid to answer. I don't like the way they have been training. There is but one thing that makes me think It will be square and that's this: In Los Angeles Jeffries has a brother, Jack, who looks the making of a better fighter than Jim. There was a match gotten up between Jack Johnson and Jack Jeffries. Johnson knocked Jack Jeffries out cold in four rounds, and then Jim Jeffries says to Johnson:

"If ever the time comes I'll pay you for this," and Johnson answered, I'm ready for you at any time."
"That's what makes me think this is not a frame up.
"But if it is a frame up, Jeffries will win—you can't buy Jeffries, and you can buy Johnson."
